

INFO 5040 - Information Behavior

3 hours

Human cognitive behavior in seeking, searching for, browsing, evaluating and using information. Concepts and contexts of types of knowledge and information need. Professional methods for and practice in user needs assessment, user profiling and mediation processes for purposes of developing user-centered information systems and services.

Prerequisite(s): None.

Course specific fees (in addition to tuition and mandatory):

Academic (AF) per hour: $13.80
